

Will We Find Love?

Swing Out Sister

Falling like a sunset in my mind
It's nothing more than an illusion
Minutes soon turn into hours
We're racing time, forever losing
And the world's disappearing as fast as we can run
Like a heart without a song now the flowers have all gone
And we've been waiting for so long
Will we find love?

Fading like a thought that lost it's way
It's on your mind but never spoken
Woken by the morning sun
Only to find the spell is broken
When tomorrow is over our dreams are always there But our hearts are still unsure of the joy we're searching for
Perhaps we wanted so much more
Will we find love?

Time and time again when I thought I almost found you
I never ever had the chance to let you go
I was lost and so alone
A world away
So far away from home
Why do they hide, those precious moments
Each breath of life biding it's time but never over
If the night is forever
As far as we can see Could our dreams still hold the key to our hearts and set them free
There's nothing else for us to be
But so in love
