

Hadrian's Wall

Syd Matters

Sun, you electify the water
And make us wanna sink
Deep down in the dark, where my body use to swim

And all the fears they came back to us in the new light
At terrifying speed
Deep down in the shallows where my body use to split

Now our hearts, by millions they escape from our puzzled bodies
We separate and reassemble fast
Fast!
Faster!!

Ooh soothing sun
Help me find the missing piece
The missing one that completes
My puzzled heart

In the morning light
I could easily change my plans
In the light i wish i felt
In the morning

From your hadrian's wall
You could easily follow me
Into the hole in which i'm falling
