Withered

Every dream is now on and the same... inspiration remains just a memory Such a tragedy to see the day when every blessing seems to go t o waste So when did we think that the world owes us any more than we de serve? Sickening to see us lose our way, drifting down a road of endle ss pain When promise has withered inside There is no future, no better life for mankind Where's the truth when we've nothing to say? Push it all aside, find a better way Such a tragedy to see the day when every blessing seems to go t o waste When promise has withered inside, there is no future... no bett er life With nothing we wither inside... the earth will swallow what's left of us To escape ... you'll find no way Witness the end of days The sky rips open, to light will blind us all Oceans will rise, erasing all we know And now the silence is everlasting Rebirth of promise through devastation So we failed and we lost the world... it was nothing more than we deserved Sickening to see us lose our way Nothing learned by our own mistakes... now it's too late When promise has withered inside, there is no future... no bett er life With nothing we wither inside... the earth will swallow what's left of us
