

Every Revolution

Take That

I can still believe the sky
Isn't rolling through the night
While I sleep fast like a stone
And the crowd we're standing on
Is what we fixed ourselves upon
Go on, you can't change what you know

There were chances left untaken
Lost diversions in the road
And far off islands to the sea
A house of flowers
A chapter and a verse
A sheet of white where we all shared our dreams

And we turn every revolution
Every revolution bringing us symphonies
Take a breath and count our lucky days
Hold me here with every revolution
Pulling together now
There's a brand new life in my soul

Now there's water in the well
On a ring guest found a bell
To tell the world we're not alone
From the silent skies a plane arrives
I feel like I've been waiting all my life
To welcome you back home

There's a wave coming in to break
The tension as we crash upon the beach
Up ahead the blanket full of stars
A pencil sketch to lie down underneath

And we turn every revolution
Every revolution bringing us symphonies
Take a breath and count our lucky days
Hold me here with every revolution
Pulling together now
There's a brand new life in my soul

And we turn every revolution
Every revolution bringing us symphonies
Take a breath and count our lucky days
Hold me here with every revolution
Pulling together now
There's a brand new life in my soul