The Storm

Tanya Donelly

Look i can't watch you Sleep-walking through this Should we find another party I'm not shining tonight just radioactive You have carbonated my bloodstream

When i stumble It will be under your spell, at your command And when i stumble It will be into your hand

Too much passion we waste In just trying to get it right one time With our clothes on we're brave And mummified and out of sight

When i stumble...

Can it be Can it be the storm has passed

I'm not finished yet, i'm under construction You can peek behind the curtain if you want You watch, don't stop My reputation's shot I just wanted to get it right

Can it be Can it be the storm has passed
