Words Don't Mean a Thing

Yesterdays were all the same Independent, where were you Nothing's changed, it's not a phase Or two Lakeside playing down on the docks, like a painting, skipping r ocks Killing time, awaiting nothing to be found No one to see, no one to believe in me Like a suspect walking free, anxiety is filling me I'm through So where the fuck were you?

You said you'd work to make things right You said that I wont have to worry you said you'd stay with me, honestly

Now I know your words don't mean a thing Killing time, awaiting, nothing to be found Nowhere to be, nothing to instill in me That I'm a part of humanity, the irony is splitting me in 2 It's not my fault, that it is here I stand It's not your fault, that it is here I stand
