

The Fall

Taylor Dayne

I'm falling behind once again
I'm calling to you
Do you hear me, unravelling
My heart from your care
I'm longing for you

But I can't go there
These were our dreams
These were our problems
Keep alive that must die
Where is the tear
Where is the man
You have forsaken
You're breaking my heart
You gave me love
Is love enough
Don't bring me down

I'm watching, I'm waiting again
I'm holding my soul
As it slips through your hands
I'm breathing, each breath is my chance
Expanding the new

Live my life again
These were our dreams
These were our problems
Cast aside that must die
All of the blame
Hides in the shame
You have forsaken
You're breaking my heart
You gave my love
It wasn't enough
Don't bring me down

Ooh
Meeting and falling
And going and loving
Whoo, whooo

I can't go back
These were our dreams
These were our problems
Cast aside that must die
Where is the tear
Where is the man
You have forsaken
You're breaking my heart
You gave me love
Is love enough
Don't bring me down, don't