

Rock and Roll Band

Teitur

This is a story of a rock and roll band.
Everybody went when they came to town.
They couldn't write a song to save their lives, but boy they could do a lot of drugs.
They could party all night and dress themselves up.
In a rock and roll band you just turn it up loud.
Everybody knows what it's about in a rock and roll band.
These beat-up chords they never stop and there's always money and cherries on top.
You go make a record in the south of France you bring your friends make everybody dance and there's a pretty good chance it's gonna sound like something.
Everybody wants to part of a rock and roll band.
