

It's Not Me

Ten Foot Pole

You took my closest friends
Split my family
I gave up everything I had
Except your memory but I know
Someone will hold your hand tonight
You won't remember me tonight
I wish I could forget so easily
Someone will hold your hand tonight
Someone will sleep right by your side
All I know is it's not me

I miss your piercing glare
I miss your fearless touch
All the little things
I never thought would mean so much
And after all this time
I thought we would forgive
I guess there is no turning back
You have your life to live I'm here all by myself
Remembering that you once said that
You would always be here "wait and see"
Someone will hold your hand tonight
You won't remember me tonight
I wish I could forget so easily
Someone could hold your hand tonight
Someone could sleep right by your side
All I know is it's not me