

She Needed a Rock

Ten Years After

She could risk it all like a gambler throws the dice
And end up hurt like she's been so many times
Better play it safe and take another road
Should she go the distance and let her feelings show

It wasn't really love though she felt it at the time
Gave her all to make it work until the feeling died
She needed a rock, he was a rolling stone
Maybe she'll be better on her own

He could break her heart, there's no guarantee
Happy ever after is where she'd like to be
In this life you've gotta take a chance or two
Sometimes you win, sometimes you lose

It wasn't really love though she felt it at the time
Gave her all to make it work until the feeling died
She needed a rock, he was a rolling stone
Maybe she'll be better on her own

It wasn't really love though she felt it at the time
Gave her all to make it work until the feeling died
She needed a rock, he was a rolling stone
Maybe she'll be better on her own
She needed a rock, he was a rolling stone
Maybe she'll be better on her own
