

Black Moon Rising

Ten

Deep beneath the castle
Every waking soul
Feels the sunlight fading
Gathers to the fold
These are all my children
Knowing timeless peace
Passing through the centuries
Like permeating mist

With a black moon rising above us
And the lightning strikes in the sky
Thunder cry
As the shadows climb
Waking the sleeping souls from the other side
Brought to life
Again

Stalking through the forest
Scent becomes the prey
Unsuspecting virgin
Should not have lost her way
Set my eyes upon her
Passion taking hold
Kissed to last forever
Now she's never growing old

With a black moon rising above us
And the lightning strikes in the sky
Thunder cry
As the shadows climb
Waking the sleeping souls from the other side
Brought to life again

When the night falls down
I'm the hunter
An immortal child of the night
Burning bright
Till the dawning light
Carry the secret down to the end of time
Called to rise again

Watch the black moon rise again
Called to rise

For centuries we travelled
Hounded from our homes
Fled the rage and hatred
Still our legion grows
Cast to Western Europe
Tales the folk will tell
Fate befalls the mortal man
Who tries to break the spell

With a black moon rising above us
And the lightning strikes in the sky
Thunder cry
As the shadows climb

Waking the sleeping souls from the other side
Brought to life again

When the night falls down
I'm the hunter
An immortal child of the night
Burning bright
Till the dawning light
Carry the secret down to the end of time
Called to rise again

Watch the black moon rise again
Called to rise again