

Eyes Of A Child

Ten

You and I
Life's great ravine
On separate sides
A hundred miles between
But my love
All is not lost
For life is just Another bridge to cross

Little girl say little boys
Don't grow up just change their toys
Trade the innocence
Passion for purity

They cast away those silly games
Leaving only stale remain
Then we fool ourselves
Call it maturity

It's little wonder such a sad refrain
Dulls our spirit of adventure on the way
Now I'm asking so you have to tell
Are you still my comic angel?

Looking through the eyes of a child tonight
Driving me wild tonight
Can I unwrap you, girl
Looking through the eyes of a child tonight
Try to decide tonight
How I can trap you, girl

Trust me I'm a doctor
Got I need a nurse
Take me for a physical

Little boys say little girls
Grow materialistic curves
Sell their souls for wealth
Call it security

They invariably find
Loveless money leaves behind
Such a bitter taste
Love is the only way

Where is the laughter we exhibited
Is it lying by the wayside where it fell
When did we become inhibited
Be yourself my comic angel

Looking through the eyes of a child tonight
Driving me wild tonight
Can I learn you, girl
Looking through the eyes of a child tonight
Try to decide tonight
How I can trap you, girl

You can be the captain
I'm all the crew you need
Ready for a mutiny

Show me you're the teacher
I would like to learn
Catch a girl, kiss a girl

Looking through the eyes of a child tonight
(Childhood scenes of you and me)
(Still reaching out to live our fantasies)

Looking through the eyes of a child tonight
(Part of you, another side)
(That you won't ever have to hide from me)

Looking through the eyes of a child tonight
(We can see this world will be a better place)
(It's not too late to dream)