

This Love

Ten

If there should come a time
Your memory starts to fade
Into a sea of incandescent dreams
I slowly slip away
Unto the end I'll watch to greet you
Crossing over
This love, this love, this love

For I would give this life of mine
To keep you safe
Until the day I die alone
With me you'll always find a place
And though the years may come and go
I'm at your shoulder
This love, this love, this love

Because as life flows on
I remember every moment
Burning bright
This love, this love

Because your light, so strong
Every ember sends me homeward
Turning tides
This love, this love
In our eyes
This love, this love

Today I'm proud to see the person
You've become
You have retained so much compassion
Through time's battles lost and won
I hope you live your life
And never say "If only..."
This love, this love, this love

Because as life flows on
I remember every moment
Burning bright
This love, this love

Because your light, so strong
Every ember sends me homeward
Turning tides
This love, this love
In our eyes
This love, this love

Because as life flows on
I remember every moment
Burning bright
This love

Because as life flows on
I remember every moment
Burning bright
This love, this love

Because your light, so strong
Every ember sends me homeward
Turning tides
This love, this love
In our eyes
This love, this love