

Life Full of Tragedy

Terminal Choice

Sometimes when I lay in bed
The dreams coming into my head
I think of all the things
I will never have
I'm trapped within my feelings and within my fear
I wish I could drive to you but I'll stay here

CHORUS:

My life is full of tragedy, but who's to blame
I'm just looking for someone who, feels the same
Now that I have found you here
This could be a chain
Tell me why I am not, able to break the chain

I dont know much about you, but I want you so
Got so much things to tell you, you will never know
Im depressed by my memories
They are burning in my heart
No one can help me out here
Life can be so hard
