I'll always remember the first time I saw him
Up in the saddle alone
Riding that pony and racin' the wind
Whereverit would blow
Each night I'd pray
For one more day
But his soul was wild and free
It's like tyin' a heart
To a tumbleweed

So I'll make a wish beneath the desert moon
His love will blow my way one day soon
Yes I know I should let him go
But I can't deny the need
It's like tyin' a heart to a tumbleweed

So I'll make a wish beneath the desert moon His love will blow my way one day soon Yes I know I should let him go But I can't deny the need It's like tyin' a heart to a tumbleweed

I could fashion some fences that might hold him in But only for a little while 'Cause that restless spirit keeps following him And I know he's bound to say goodbye I dream he'll say that he wants to stay Then he drifts away from me It's like tyin' a heart to a tumbleweed

So I'll make a wish beneath the desert moon His love will blow my way one day soon Yes I know I should let him go But I can't deny the need It's like tyin' a heart to a tumbleweed

Tyin' a heart to a tumbleweed Tyin' a heart to a tumbleweed
