All for Revenge

I'll take the weight, hold the shame Inside myself, I'm cut by blame As the burden falls on me Down on me How could they know, the poisoned youth Victim of the times, never shown truth And you and me sat back and watched As the foundation broke

This, this is the end All, all for revenge

Destroy, rebuild, bomb your words Our times at hand, I want to watch you burn I can't ignore it anymore Go right for you throat An end to you, those in control You feed the masses, a mindless clone No wealth or fame can ever replace My one true love, my saving grace

This is a call for vengeance The search for redemption The truth it speaks louder then bombs So I confront myself and now I shut you down

This is the end all for revenge
