Everything

Tevin Campbell

What would I give to hold you once again What would I give to make this loneliness end If I could bring you back Back to where this love once lived What would I give? Everything What would I do for one more precious moment with you What would it take to make your heart hear the truth To ease our pain I caused Make up for the time I lost with you What would I do? Anything Are you doing all right? Have you found a life apart from me? As it bring(s) you happiness I don't want to know about it 'cause night after night I try to fight the emptiness In this quiet room Life goes on without you Where would I go If only you would ask me to

No road is too long if it would lead me back to you Somehow I found a way If you called to say that you need me there Where would I go? Anywhere

Are you doing all right? Have you found a life apart from me? For now I must confess That I don't want to talk about it 'cause night after night I try to fight the emptiness In this silent room There's no peace without you

What would I give to hear you say you love me again What would it take to make this loneliness end If I could bring you back Back to where this love once lived What would I give? Everything

What would I do? Anything

What would I give? oh... Everything
