

Illuminate the Trail

Textures

The heat melts my wings
They are not mine
I haven't earned them yet
This fantasy still lives
Virtues come to mind

They are forsaken
The only thing that matters is Reflection of choices made under stress Saying sorry only mends a broken pride

Taking actions is the only way
That we can win this fight
Cause and reaction as primary fuel for curiosity
As there is no final question
And no final answer
Doubt but do not fear

And you will find truth
Beauty is in the eye of the beholder
But it might not be as you've always imagined
Do not be afraid
Always question everything

Empirically revoke impossibilities and embrace

Go find the answers
Let me clarify that Knowledge comes from questions

Illuminate the trail

For generations to come lift the obstructing veil create transparent vision eliminate the boundaries imagine the unimaginable and broaden the horizon

for these are true revelations and this is the time for change our pathetic excuse for a civilization needs this just one enlightening thought amongst billions can make a difference the past is evidence for not this fact alone

Our secluded procreation Fails to see
What is in front of their magnified eyes
As knowledge floods humanity
While leaving our common sense behind
So let evidence guide you

And feel the weight being lifted off your shoulders

Breathe freely Making it easy to keep An open mind
One enlightening thought Is all it takes to move forward
And leave the cloud of unknowing behind

And you will find truth
