

One Eye For A Thousand

Textures

Eyes
A thousand eyes
Waiting below the waves
Because above the rain burns
My past becomes a lie

Goodbye sense of awareness
I drink adrenaline like mother's milk
It soothes me
Remove all that I trust, all I'm ashamed for, state of remission, I feed of the vulture
I'm left breathless
The battle is lost
One step takes a thousand miles
One black circle where I expected the sun
One blind spot, one eye for a thousand eyes
Where I begun: underwater I am reborn
I got stuck in the nether on a lonely cloud
While the heat burns my feathers
We're all homeward bound
With a roar I dive down and I greet the seas
With words from an opiate verse

I am, I am waiting for
One hand to raise a thousand fists
One moment caught in a thousand times
One blind spot
One eye for a thousand eyes
One place to long for
And I surrender to my pride

When i am a lonely cloud
While the heat burns my feathers
We're all homeward bound
With a roar I dive down and I greet the seas
Goodbye

These eyes have seen the abyss
This mouth has told a thousand lies
My hands are washed in guilt and
I face my own reflection's flight

What are you waiting for

You are left with nothing