

I am encased in the moonlit glow
Of sleepless nights
Caught in the haul of small towns
And cities drenched in moving light
Held only by the blink and the flash
Of a many writhing scowl
Brought forth the release of these
Rabid hell hounds

Fortified with our strength
We carry on until our backs may break

Banners fly, shield walls crack
This wartorn campaign
Never to look back
Conquering lands unseen
We stake our claim, sea to sea

In this wartorn campaign
A crossing of common lives
With only strength to share
There's only minutes to bare
And it's all gone.. in the blink of an eye

Fortified with our strength
We carry on until our backs may break

Banners fly, shield walls crack
This wartorn campaign
Never to look back
Conquering lands unseen
We stake our claim, sea to sea

What moves us is a need to feel
The weight of a thousand faces
With piercing eyes that push us on
We destroy these cities
We decimate these towns
Each and every single one
Burnt to the ground

Banners fly, shield walls crack
This wartorn campaign
Never to look back
Conquering lands unseen
We stake our claim, sea to sea