

You
You make it cheap by keeping score
Once a blessing now a chore

Always pressing, moving forward
There is nothing too appreciated

I know exactly where to go
Above the clouds, where there's always sun
I know exactly where to go
This game will not be won

You
You've given yourself something to prove
You built an invisible gauntlet
You'd better run
And we don't take this lightly
We don't take this lightly
We don't take this lightly
We don't take this lightly at all

No no

Please don't forget, what it's like to stay in love
To feel it all through your shoes

To breathe electricity in the air
And to know that it's there because of you

What it's like, when time slows down and then stops
The light shines and the sweat drops

This passion is so overwhelmingly rare
Don't let this treasure dissolve into the air

Be won, be won
Be won, be won
