The Turn of a Friendly Card (Part 1)

The Alan Parsons Project

There are unsmiling faces and bright plastic chainsAnd a wheel in perpetual motionAnd they follow the races and pay out the ga insWith no show of an outward emotion

And they think it will make their lives easierFor God knows up till now it's been hardBut the game never ends when your whole world dependsOn the turn of a friendly cardNo the game never en ds when your whole world dependsOn the turn of a friendly card There's a sign in the desert that lies to the westWhere you can 't tell the night from the sunriseAnd not all's the king's hors e and all the king's menHave prevented the fall of the unwise For they think it will make their lives easierAnd God knows up till now it's been hardBut the game never ends when your whole world dependsOn the turn of a friendly cardNo the game never en ds when your whole world dependsOn the turn of a friendly card But a pilgrim must follow in search of a shrineAs he enters ins ide the cathedral...