

Strength In Pain

The Alchemist

(So much has changed.)

(so much has changed.)

Verse 1

When I was younger
I thought my life would be easy Always had my parents to guide me from the cold world, they could not make me see

I had no worries Anything I wanted was there for me
My friends wishing they could be like me
With the diamond rings and the baby Gucci

Chorus

I'm thinking of the good old days when all of my life was funny games
And all i had to do was think of me, no stress, no responsebilities

I won't cry any longer
All of my pain make me stronger
I'll do the best to maintain that happiness that i remember

x2

why d'you leave me,
tell me why you left me
innocence has a child so easy
why d'you leave,
tell me why you left me
daddy why d'you leave me?
daddy why d'you leave me?

Verse 2

Life as a teenager Started moving oh, so rapidly Took my mom and my pops away from me God was rolling, and i could not see Why

They had to leave me Who would have thought that this could be My life was turning unbelievable
This could not be happening to me

Chorus

I'm thinking of the good old days
when all of my life was funny games
And all i had to do was think of me,
no stress, no responsebilities

I won't cry any longer
All of my pain make me stronger

I'll do the best to maintain that happiness that i remember

Verse 3

Now I'm a young lady
And didn't want nobody to think for me Went against my family
And was a baby, having my own baby

How real is that, can ya feel me?
Didn't need no help from nobody, not even no help from yo daddy I, myself, and my own Lady

x2

why d'you leave me,
tell me why you left me
innocence has a child so easy
why d'you leave,
tell me why you left me
daddy why d'you leave me?
daddy why d'you leave me?

I know ways, they can't remain No matter how fucking hard it may be I'm gonna walk with my head up to the sky
This life is like an alternate eye