

Little Lost Girl

The Apers

She's been around yeah she has seen it all
She took the punches then she took the fall
Now once again she's left alone
And she's listening to records
Of the Rolling Stones

The day's a nightmare that won't seem to end
And every morning it's the same again
But when she falls asleep at night
Then everything will be alright

Cause when she's sleeping
She dreams about a world
Without loneliness and pain
But when she wakes up
That dream was just a dream
And the world is still the same

Little lost girl take you time
You will have your day

She's spending hours lying on the floor
She's had enough can't take it anymore
Don't bother asking her about the mess she's in
She hardly wouldn't know where to begin

She wants to leave she wants to get away
She doesn't think she'll make it through the day
Her problems just got stacked so high
And all she does is sleep and cry

Little does she know
That her time will eventually come
Little does she know
That she just has to keep ploughing on
