

At the bottom of your list of things to do
In the crossfire of your battles lost and won It's optimistic of you - looking on

At the bottom of your list of things to do
You're optimistic but you are the only one

I have built, all i can for you
And you waste it all away
I have built up, my resistance to
Everything you have to say

I've been taking advice
So we could get this wrong
What's the reason to hide
when all is said and done
I've been on your side
so we could get this wrong
What's the reason to hide
Now, that the victory is gone

I have built up, all i can for you
And you waste it all away
I have built up, my resistance to
everything you have to say

At the bottom of your list of things to do
At the bottom of your list of things to do
At the bottom of your list of things to do

I have built up, all i can for you
And you waste it all away
I have built up, my resistance to
everything you have to say
I have built up, all i can for you
And you waste it all away
I have built up, my resistance to
Everything you have to say