

I told myself to wait
But the greyness around me took a liking to me
I stood there against your gate
But the coldness was growing so I began walking
I began walking away
Inside I knew what I was leaving

But hey Maree
We belong together
Hey Maree
We belong together girl

Breathing the sour taste
Of indecision, of incompleteness
Can't believe it's going to waste
The candle-lit passion, that honest sensation

Hey Maree...

I could not believe the deception in me as I left you in rags of grey
I could not believe that I chose this bereavement
When with you is all I can be

Hey Maree...