

The Day

The Black Angels

The Sun was shining
Across the field
Burning bright with all his might
In the shadows lingering
The Moon was
Looking so sadly
"Why should he shine so bright?
The day is old, and it's the night"

No rain or storm
Could keep them from love, no
No rain or storm
Could keep them from love, hey

So the Moon across the field
She told the Sun "You'd better run, run
You'd better run
You'd better run
It's my turn, Sun"

The day is through
It's time to start anew
The day is through

Then the night became as bright
Because the Moon gave her light
When the stars
Go join their friend
Then the day came to an end

It's all over
It's all over
It's all over
Another day, another night

The day is through
It's time to start anew
And when the cycle ends
Another starts again

Someone's lookin' at the daylight
Dreamin' that their nightmares
Are better in the daytime

Wish it would start
Wish it would start
Wish it would start
Wish it would start
