

Never from This Heart

The Black Heart Procession

now there was never a sound no never from this heart she was born by the sea you look so weak life won't let you go away life won't let you go to waste now as a fire erupts in a heart so immune so you return to the sea and remember all these things you let float away into another life where they floated for years