New Day

The Bouncing Souls

People tell me they wake up everyday wondering if they'll be he re tommorrow. I say live for today. Cuz everything you have is just borrowed. No progress made just sittin' around Tv's selling bullshit by the pound Things stay the same are you afraid to ask why? Fight To Live! or are you waiting to die?

Changes coming our way! Just like a new day.

These borrowed days they come and go We live on, reaping what we sow Terror from the darkness of our minds the self-destruction of mankind and we'd all like to see some change But the shit, it falls like rain We sit and watch the world turn grey What's the point here anyway? Changes coming our way Just like a new day
