

So Jersey

The Bouncing Souls

The sun shines brightly on a Jersey afternoon
He walked in his parents footsteps on his way home from school
Those ties that were so sweet, also burned under his feet
Now he's ready to walk a path that is new and he can't turn back

He can't turn back
He can't turn back

Burning through the crowds, he made it out alive
Betting everything on himself tonight

Tonight

She's driving down the shore on a Jersey afternoon
She's driving down the same old roads her parents took her through Hypnotized by those broken lines, broken records lost in time
She's turning down a road that is new and she can't turn back

No, she can't turn back
She can't turn back

Stepping through the darkness, into the light
Betting everything on herself tonight

Tonight

Stepping out of a Asbury Lanes in a midnight snow
The skeleton of this old town feels like it's coming alive
Riots and corruption, beaches and Bruce
These songs were the keys to the engines of our growing up

And we wanna say thanks to the music in our lives
Forgive ourselves for all those lies
Send some love to all the lonely
Don't forget we're all one family
Thanks to the music in our lives for helping us to survive
Lost in one lonely dream, born to run and live free

The sun shines brightly on us this afternoon
Walking in our own footsteps, we search for something more

And we can't turn back
No, we can't turn back
We can't turn back

Stepping through the darkness, into the light
We're betting everything, we're betting everything
We're betting everything, on ourselves tonight

Tonight

Tonight

Tonight

Tonight (oh oh woah oh oh)
Tonight (oh oh woah oh oh)
Tonight (oh oh woah oh oh)
Tonight (oh oh woah oh oh)

Tonight
