

Voice Box

The Briggs

I'm ready for waking up this time
Got the open ears and open mind
Got my voice box ready
But I don't know what it is I need

Ready for waking up this time
Got the open ears and open mind
Got my voice box ready
But I don't know what it is I need

Decided on no regrets this time
So give me strength and peace of mind
As I stand ready
Why is it I always have to fight to belong?
Am I right or am I wrong?

You're not alone
There's got to be a million people living just like you
So don't complain
I will try, but something isn't right

I'm ready for waking up this time
The future hasn't been defined
I've got this vision
And I think I fit in here somewhere

I've got this thing I'd like to try
So open up your narrow eyes
And see what's coming
I don't intend to stand here so polite for so long
Am I right or am I wrong?

You're not alone
There's got to be a million people living just like you
So don't complain
I will try, but something isn't right

Make a run for something you love
Join the club and find out who you're not
There's a place for everyone involved
That doesn't include you
Make a run for something you love
Looking good until you find
You don't have any legs to call your own

I will fight to belong
Am I right or am I wrong?

You're not alone
There's got to be a million people living just like you
So don't complain
I will try, but something isn't right
