

I've Been In Love Before

The Cats

I've been in love before a hundred times maybe more But how could I ever fall in love with someone like you Cause you've been hurting me so how could I ever know This love affair with me was just a game to you

All you did was use my love, just to please yourself You with your silly pride All you did was destroy my life, just to enjoy yourself I couldn't help but cry

I've been in love before a hundred times maybe more But how could I ever fall in love, with someone like you girl You really play it so cool and I was such a big fool Cause I refused to see my love means nothing to you

There`s nothing left to say so I just simply walk away I know that I can live without you You can call me any time a day, I'll be so kind To tell you why, I had to leave you

Cause all you did was use my love just to please yourself I felt the pain inside And all you did was destroy my life, just to enjoy yourself Everytime I cried

There`s nothing left to say, so I just simply walk away I know that I can live without you You can call me any time a day, I'll be so kind To tell you why, I had to leave you

All you did was use my love just to please yourself With the your silly pride All you did was destroy my life just to enjoy yourself Ev`ry time I cried