

Slaine the Almighty

The Claymore

(Lyrics:The Claymore/Music:The Claymore)

Running away-under a dead moon they were coming closer
Every day-fear their evil presence Feeling their hate-the kingdom lies in ashes , bleeds in silence

Pray for help - heading for salvation, in the time of doom
In the age when the beacons were shining
Far away in the land of the free
A king was born , named ,Slaine the Almighty?
Powered by rage to protect the weak

They believe in the man in the distance
He'll dry away their tears in the rain
Like a god he will take all their sorrows
Watch the saviour - the king of the hills

They believe in the man in the distance
He'll dry away their tears in the rain
Like a god he will take all their sorrows
Watch the saviour-SLAINE THE KING

Deep in the woods a dark force was rising
A giant storm was wasting the land
Slaine tried to save the life of his father
But in the end-he died in his arms

They believe in the man in the distance
He'll dry away their tears in the rain
Like a god he will take all their sorrows
Watch the saviour - the king of the hills

They believe in the man in the distance
He'll dry away their tears in the rain
Like a god he will take all their sorrows
Watch the saviour - SLAINE THE KING

Tear down the walls - he took revenge to all the cruel invaders
Tear down the walls - noone left the battlefield
Breaking the chains - he was building up a new empire
Hold his crown - heading for tomorrow , in the glory years

They believe in the man in the distance
He'll dry away their tears in the rain
Like a god he will take all their sorrows
Watch the saviour - the king of the hills

They believe in the man in the distance
He'll dry away their tears in the rain
Like a god he will take all their sorrows
Watch the saviour - SLAINE THE KING