

Branches

The Concretes

among the branches
I feel no fear
I rest my head
against their bark remember how
I used to watch them
from the ground
but now it's me in the branches cause I made up my mind that I wanted to be one of their leaves