

Consequence Of Living

The Dangerous Summer

I started dreaming again
Ever since the words collapsed my love
It's like I'm breathing it in
And I don't even care if I lost it
And now I'm sleeping again with these pills
I got from Laura last month
I wonder if she needs them again
I think of how she's doing without them

'Cause our brain's all fall apart sometimes
And that pain will do you in

This is the end
This is the consequence of living
This is death
Watching the pictures from memories breathe again
I will remember all those feelings we once shared
'Cause yeah, we lived
Yeah, we lived

I can see it again
Every other page there's something gone
I need another reason to live, yeah
I don't even know how I lost it
And now I'm sleeping with these dreams
I can't stop playing in my head
There's one in which I'm drowning
And then one where I'm beginning to start over new

'Cause our brain's all fall apart sometimes
And that pain will do you in

This is the end
This is the consequence of living
This is death
Watching the pictures from memories breathe again
I will remember all those feelings we once shared
'Cause yeah, we lived
Yeah, we lived

This is the end
This is the consequence of living
This is death
Watching the pictures from memories breathe again
I will remember all those feelings we once shared
'Cause yeah, we lived
Yeah, we lived
