

Lie to Me

The Dangerous Summer

We still need time to repair it
Love is a burden we hold on till the end
We'll fall asleep like our parents
I wonder how many years until we're dead

Let's spend our summers in Paris
We'll walk the streets and then black out on red wine
There's joie de vivre in our spirits
I wonder how many years until that dies

I'd lie to me
Know I'd lie to me

I still don't know why I'm careless
You drag me out of a lonely state of mind
I'd never cut you on purpose
I'm just beginning to take hold of my life

But I'd lie to me
Know I'd lie to me
Know I'd lie to me
So why won't you?
So why won't you?

Let's spend our summers in Paris
We'll walk the streets and then black out on red wine
There's joie de vivre in our spirits
I wonder how many years until that dies

I still don't know why I'm careless
You drag me out of a lonely state of mind
I'd never cut you on purpose
I'm just beginning to take hold of my life