

Well I lost the title
I'm gonna float away
Sad to think I'll always understand why you make friends with enemies
You swore you won the lottery
I really hope it pays
Everything you wanted with your mother
Buy that place you always said you would

Through the rain
In the morning I see May
The season's starting over
I don't mind waking up alone
As long as you're okay
You're okay

I really lost a lot of things
I can barely speak and I'm hardly sober take good memories and wipe that slate clean
I was trying to get it out
Some how, right now I'm still standing here

Through the rain
In the morning I see May
The season's starting over
I don't mind waking up alone
As long as you still feed that dream
Of moving out to Angel City
No one's stopping you
Nothing's holding you back
Honestly, cause I still care

Are you lying on your back?
Are you lying?
Why are you settling again?
Cause I'm not silenced
Not with the way we cut clean
We both said a lot and even though we may not speak
You are the song I wrote that I will always love and I will always know
And I'll never take our time foregranted
Honestly so
And even when we are grown take everything we own try to take all the pictures in your memories so I lost you

Through the rain
In the morning I see May
The season's starting over
I don't mind waking up alone
As long as you still feed that dream
Of moving out to Angel City
No one's stopping you
Nothing's holding you back
Honestly, cause I still care