

Window On The World

The dB's

Window, window, window
I try very hard
Always do my best
Keep and open mind so it can do the rest
Window
I don't get it all
Some I can't recall
Some of it just goes right on past my head

Through my open window on the world

Window, window, window
There's so much to learn
There's so little time
I can't realize enough to know what's mine
Window, window

I live by a window
I never want it closed
Open up so I can let my mind back in

Through my open window on the world
Through my open window on the world
Through my open window on the world
Window, window

Through my open window on the world
Through my open window on the world
Through my window, open window on the world