

Nightfall & Splendor

The Echoing Green

Fallen beneath Your sky
With nowhere else to run
I've raced across my life
Learning to die

Trembling beneath You now
I turn towards the sun
I've come this far somehow
Only to find

I can lift up my eyes to You
I lift them up
I can trust that my help comes soon
Love quickly come!
As You cover the hills in nightfall
And a blanket of stars above
Please remember my broken heart
As I lift it up Lord

When the waters of my soul
Threaten to run dry
There Your power holds
Turning the tide

One wilderness cannot steal
The strength of sacrifice
How Your love was revealed
In the fullness of time

I will lift up my eyes to You
I lift them up
I will trust that my help comes soon
Love quickly come!
As You cover the world in splendor
And the mystery of Your love
I remember Your broken heart
When You lifted my life Lord