Tonight

The Echoing Green

Underneath the open sky Beneath the stars we cry And I can't see your eyes

How I wonder where you are Sometimes you seem so far Especially tonight

Though I know you have to run How I want you to stay on And see how far we've come

No, we cannot always wait To choose the perfect day To mean the things we say

I can't let you go Somehow I think you know But if you have to leave Now's the time, when I'm still strong My sight still clear

Tonight...