

Last Goodbye

The Feelers

Driving on this road at night it's a long way ahead Cactus' are side by side their tequilas in my head

This is the last goodbye
that I even scream your name
This is the last reminder that I end and begin at the same time

In the morning is the worst time when I feel wounded I've got to get back on that horse to get me home
This is the last goodbye
that I even scream your name
This is the last reminder
that I end and begin at the same time

This is the last goodbye
This is me phoning time and asking why
This is the last goodbye
Fuck you fuck you fuck time
and you know why

Crashing burning watching my body fall away There's no point in you staying, killing yourself when you watch me die

Cause this is the last time when I'll feel wounded
This is the last time when I'll feel wounded

This is the last goodbye
This is me phoning time and asking why
This is the last goodbye
Fuck you fuck you fuck time
and you know why