

Are You Satisfied?

The Fixx

Are you satisfied?
With the way things are
Knowing that you never dared and care only now
You seem polarized by your own sense of doubt
Attracting only negative thoughts
Positive your lucks run out
Are you satisfied?
With the turn of events
Peeling onions to mask the pains tears and Fears you try to circumvent
You seem hypnotized by all that's man made and shallow Follow you must or else you life feels

Send yourself to sleep lose yourself in dreams
You'll never know until you breathe
Realize that tomorrow things may be fine
In your eyes; I'll see that my life through your eyes
Here tonight don't you know
That Things could turn out right
Are you satisfied?
By your civilizations a saddled broken horse
Pulling a cart load of premonitions to manure the road
Of others peoples visions
This cultures vulture will pick the bones
Of your decisions
Send yourself to sleep
Lose yourself in dreams
You'll never know until you breath
Realize that tomorrow news may be fine in your eyes
I'll see that my life through your eyes here tonight
Don't you know, oh, yeah that things could turn out right
For tonight
I'll find my life, I'll find my life

You'll never know till you breath, realize that tomorrow
Rules may be fine in your eyes
I'll see that my life through your eyes here tonight
Don't you know, that things could turn out right
Are you satisfied?
Knowing that you never dared did you care up and down?
Are you satisfied?
With the way things are
Look at my life, I found my life, here tonight,
Things will turn out right
Seeing my life through yours, through your eyes Knowing that you'll never know, that you care up and down
Are you satisfied?
Don't you know that things can turn out right?
