

Public Service Announcement

The Flatliners

Now you're fighting because you found another reason
To corrupt the youth with pills and booze
And all the other lies and remedies for a good conversation
Where someone's left down and out,
With no other way out but the worst
I'm trying to make a point so take your fingers
Out of your ears and just listen
Without a doubt, I'm finding out there's more to life
Just for once, take it into consideration
That I'm not the only one doing things wrong
It took a while for you to realize,
And you're only halfway there,
You're a hero in your own mind