

I'm thirst for love affection bullshit
I'm burning without consciousness like a branch
I've just wanted like I was suffocated
The remains of nature that you've hid in your eyes

Spread your wings like a butterfly
Like I said: besides that, here is a spider web

In the overflowing future from your mouth
Do not touch me anymore, my darling

My breath stops the leak of love
When the fiery heat surfaces, What will go down?

I'm thirst for love affection bullshit
Now there is something that averts the nature go fool

Spread your wings like a butterfly
Like I said: besides that, here is a spider web

It's not just about pleasure butterfly with a kiss into respectively eye, my darling

In the end always will remain a small dream made to show off

You will stay like this
You will stay like this

Just spread your wings like a butterfly before the orchid notices and intend to cover

Bursting like a bubble
the small dream reminds me of fireworks

Romance is like an end of summer's leftover
I bloom vividly and lonely

In the overflowing future from your mouth
Do not touch me anymore, my darling

In the eve, I will stop the breath leaking
I will hide the nature in my other self
