

Drifters & Trawlers

The Good, the Bad & the Queen

I've done enough today
Sweet lord I've done enough today
I've seen the jetsam rise and fall
Because they got them all
They were trawling
Down at the bottom
Where everything ends
And the lovers I have lost are gone

I've done enough today
Sweet lord I've done enough today
I've seen the jetsam rise and fall
Singing back to the sands run ashore

Fixed odds and with little care
I shall go into town in the devil's name alone

When the sea is grass
And the land is dark still
Throw away your fears
Throw away the nets
And throw away the past
When it's taken you
Half of the day to get over the waves
You carve away
