

No Need For Eyes

The Growlers

You hide to the morning
The shadows are the cowards of the sun
When he's rising alive and smiling
He's well aware that you're on the run

Come join my hand in the early sun
Take off all your clothes
Nothing to hide from anyone
You don't have to live like a ghost

You are running with your head down
You got no reason to rise
When you're living in the darkness
There's no need for eyes

When your lies have trusted the one you love
All your lies can be trusted
Slowly digging your own grave
Still ensuring to keep you save

You are running with your head down
You got no reason to rise
When you're living in the darkness
There's no need for eyes

Why do you choose to live so many
Different lives?

To live in the greatest gift
Take your freedom and and make it right
Every soul of you to get
You're only a victim if you decide

You are running with your head down
You got no reason to rise
When you're living in the darkness
There's no need for eyes

Come join my hand in the early sun
Take off all your clothes
Nothing to hide from anyone
You don't have to live like a ghost

You are running with your head down
You got no reason to rise
When you're living in the darkness
There's no need for eyes

When you're running with your head down
You got no reason to rise
You are living in the darkness
There's no need for eyes

Why do you choose to live so many
Different lives?