

If She Ever Leaves Me

The Highwomen

I see you watch her from across the room
Dancing her home in your mind
Well it takes more than whiskey to make that flower bloom
And by the third drink you'll find out she's mine

I've loved her in secret
I've loved her out loud
The sky hasn't always been blue
And it might last forever
Or it might not work out
But if she ever leaves me it won't be for you

She loves Wild Horses and Tumbling Dice
She don't have a single tattoo
She'll drink all the liquor and leave you the ice
That's too much cologne, she likes perfume

I've loved her in secret
I've loved her out loud
The sky hasn't always been blue
And it might last forever
Or it might not work out
But if she ever leaves me it won't be for you

If she ever leaves it's gonna be for a woman with more time
Who's not afraid to let her dreams come true
If she ever gives her careful heart to somebody new
Well it won't be for a cowboy like you

Well I've loved her in secret
I've loved her out loud
The sky hasn't always been blue
It might last forever
Or it might not work out
But if she ever leaves me it won't be for you
If she ever leaves me it won't be for you
