The Irish Rovers

We're Dinosaurs the old guard, we march to a different drum
Dinosaurs who never needed help from anyone
We always did it our way, no matter wrong or right
We're still around and doing what we like
Dinosaurs are on the prowl tonight

Some of us still walk the Earth, though fewer than before
Our knocks are how we learned, no school can ditch us more
We've seen it all, we've done it all, there's nothing new you'll find
You have to play your [?] and hope that Lady Luck is kind

We're Dinosaurs the old guard, we march to a different drum
Dinosaurs who never needed help from anyone
We always did it our way, no matter wrong or right
We're still around and doing what we like
Dinosaurs are on the prowl tonight

As you climb the ladder, better watch out where you step
If you slip and tumble down, there is no safety net
And if you reach the stars, cast a weary eye around
It's wise to heed the lesson, what goes up must come down

We're Dinosaurs the old guard, we march to a different drum
Dinosaurs who never needed help from anyone
We always did it our way, no matter wrong or right
We're still around and doing what we like
Dinosaurs are on the prowl tonight

It's best you pay attention and look out for yourself
The takers take 'till nothing's on the self (Watch yourself)
They charm you with illusion, tell you things you want to hear
They're magic cause your magic disappears

They look at us and wonder what keeps them going on
Don't they understand their glory days are gone
And no one knows but you when it's time to step aside
While there's fire in the blood, passion never dies

We're Dinosaurs the old guard, we march to a different drum
Dinosaurs who never needed help from anyone
We always did it our way, no matter wrong or right
We're still around and doing what we like
Dinosaurs are on the prowl tonight

We're Dinosaurs the old guard, we march to a different drum
Dinosaurs who never needed help from anyone
