

Dragonstorms

The Kovenant

Through the Dark I storm with hate, ablaze with gruesome might Again destruction walks my path as I battle for the night
Blackwinds come and lift my dragonwings into the sky
Carry me across domains, towards the night I fly
I spread my wings across the fields, forever growing cold
Lightning fills my heart like myths had once foretold
I prowl the woods for living blood, the reaper of light
Again destruction walks my path, I conquer for the night

The dragonstorms flew away with the starwinds...
Towards the realm of nights...into the dark where dragons ride.

Come forth thou glorious night, embrace me in your triumphant grasp
I crave for darkness...I crave for the dragonstorms to come again

My eyes they gleam with victory under the blackening sun
Through the clouds I storm with pride, the battle has been won
Cravens of the light they flee as dragons ride again
Evil dominates the world...as I am unchained
See the fire dragons they ride as fogwinds of beauty
The foreve night is here at last..the sun now fades away
Embraced by triumph I take the throne and crown myself the king
Eternal darkness veils the sky....hear the dragons sing

The dragonstorms flew away with the starwinds...
Towards the realm of nights...into the dark where dragons ride.
