

A Matter Of Time

The Leisure Society

Sitting on a beach declaring my intentions
Trying to find a way to focus your affection
In a matter of time I know I'll find you
In a matter of time I know I'll find you

Here's another name to add to your collection
She lacks in desire what I lack in direction
In a matter of time I know I'll find it
In a matter of time I know I'll find it

Cos there ain't no easy way out
Of the whirlpool ride
No there ain't no way to get out
Once you've put your heart in

Picking up the pieces, putting them together
Trying to find a reason for my strange behaviour
In a matter of time I know I'll find it
In a matter of time I know I'll find it

The fever comes it never dies
It burns my brain and blurs my eyes
Although I wasn't born to fight
I know I'll find it in me
I ride the train home back again
The slumber journey never ends
But if I need the strength to sing
I know I'll find it in me

Never mind cos I've never done right
And the face I like doesn't shine any more, any more
Never mind cos I've never done right
And the face I like doesn't shine any more, any more
Never mind cos I've never done right
And the face I like doesn't shine any more, any more
Never mind cos I've never done right
And the face I like doesn't shine any more, any more
Any more